Swain Hall To Be Reconverted Into Cafeteria

Alleged Rise In Food Prices By Merchants Investigated

Facts Released In Special Report

Complete facts concerning food prices in Chapel Hill restaurants, cafes, and drug stores have been determined in a report issued yesterday by Bert Bennett, president of the student body. The report includes data determined and verified by a special committee set up by Bennett to investigate reports that eating prices in some establishments have been unjustifiably raised.

Profiteering . . .

To the Student Body and Merchants of Chapel Hill: Since the Lenoir Dining Hall is, at present, closed to all students, many have found it necessary to eat in town. As of late, I have heard many derogatory criticisms in regard to the prices of meals, the service, and the dissimilarity of prices of similar items. A committee was set up to investigate the situation and endeavor to get so many facts as possible. Naval cadets in Chapel Hill and the University Dining Hall closed, the eating establishments have found themselves with very little competition, and a great increase in the volume of business. Since food is essential, students must eat; they prefer a well-balanced diet at a reasonable price. The sole objective of this letter is to inform you of our investigation and encourage you to write me a letter if you discover incorrect statements by me or by the proprietors in regard to retail food and confectioneries.
